WHAT SUPT. ATKINSON THINKS OF THE SUN

Yesterday the superintendent placed an advertisement in The Sun requesting information concerning the whereabouts of a William F. Moon, a Milwaukee man who is married to a Lowell girl. At 6:30 last night he received a telephone call from Mr. William Moon giving him all the information requested. This, according to the chief, is a good record for locating a missing person.

Congress Lead
WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—President Coolidge's first annual message to Congress has served to clear the atmosphere at the capitol so far as the administration's executive program is concerned.

The executive having presented his views frankly and concisely on the manifold problems of the day, speculation has turned to how many of his recommendations can be translated into law at this session in view of the confused political situation in Congress.

The president and congress appear to be as one on the desirability of tax reduction, but the administration's pro-

PROCLAIMS HARDING MEMORIAL WEEK

BOSTON, Dec. 5.—Gov. Cox proclaimed the week of Dec. 9 to 16 as Harding Memorial week. He not only urges religious, business, social, fraternal and civic bodies to commemorate in a fitting manner the late president, but calls attention to the place for a Harding memorial, which he earnestly desires, as follows:

"Now, therefore, I, Channing H. Cox, governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, do hereby proclaim for this purpose the week of Dec. 9 to Dec. 16, Harding Memorial week, and urge all religious, business, social, fraternal and civic bodies to commemorate our late president in a fitting manner at one of their regular or special services or meetings, and to contribute to this memorial according to their means and inclination."

"It would be most fitting for all our colleges and schools, both public and private, to hold exercises which may set forth the duties and powers of the president of the United States and emphasize the tremendous responsibilities and burdens which that office imposes. May every student in our colleges and schools have some part, however small, in establishing a suitable memorial to a sincere and devoted leader, who gave his all in the service of his country in a most difficult period."

"In the calm review of President Harding's labor for the welfare of our times, and in preserving the example of his sacrifice, we may find new inspiration to be worthy citizens of a country which has enjoyed noble leadership."

MEXICAN REBELLION WILL BE PUT DOWN WITH IRON HAND

Pres. Obregon Discusses Movement Against Government

—Declares Country Will Be Pacified—Troops of Entire Maritime Zone Have Joined in Revolt

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 7. (By the Associated Press)—"The country will be pacified; the rebellion will be put down with an iron hand," said President Obregon upon arriving here last evening from Celaya, where he has been convalescing from his recent illness.

This was the only comment the president would make on the reports that General Sanchez and Adolfo de la Huerta had undertaken a movement against his government. The presi-

GORLEY ESTATE CASE RESUMED

BERGDOLL KIDNAPPING

Sentences of From One to Three Years for Men Involved Recommended

MOSBACH, Baden, Dec. 7 (by the Associated Press).—Sentences of three years each for Corliss Heaven Griffis of Hamilton, O., and Karl Sporer of Paris; one year for the Russian prince, Fausto Gagarin, and six months for Eugene Victor Nelson of Chicago were recommended today by State's Attorney Nebel to the court which is trying these prisoners for the attempt to kidnap Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, American draft evader, at Eberbach last August.

Bergdoll's counsel contended these terms were insufficient punishment, and asked the court for heavier sentences, especially for Griffis and Nelson.

Attorney Nebel contended that the United States government was largely responsible for the attempts to remove Bergdoll illegally. He expressed the opinion that it would be wise if the Americans in the interests of peace abandoned "this everlasting man hunt" for Bergdoll.

A meeting of the community chest committee, composed of members of the chamber of commerce and Rotary club, will be held next Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the chamber of commerce rooms in the Fairburn building.

THE MARCONI OF TELEPATHY

KONRAD LEITNER

BY STEVE HANNAGAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Konrad Leitner has taken in too much territory. Konrad is a mental telepathist who set Switzerland and other high places in Europe alog with his mental feats. He was called the "Marconi of Telepathy."

Among the accomplishments Konrad set claim to was the faculty of lending his will power to others. Thus, if one wished to quit cigaret smoking, all one had to do was to commune with Konrad several times and the craving for nicotine was gone! Applied auto-suggestion.

The writer hid a nickel in a drawer not in the Pennsylvania hotel. Konrad found it in less time than it takes to shake its tall thir. As you Horace Page and Mrs. Marion Merrill's children's and art table. Miss Anna

"That's not so much," quoth Ken Edwards, chairman and Mrs. Charles me (through an interpreter) "I could cook."

It's in an airplane and had something hidden six states away it, the fellow who did it would ride with me."

Konrad also had claim to being a hypnotist. That's where he took in too much territory. A few leading Thomases arranged for him to hypnotize the audience as the closing act of a vaudeville bill.

Konrad persuaded the spectators to raise their hands above their heads. Then he told them they couldn't take them down. They not only took them down. They walked out.

HELD MONTHLY COFFEE PARTY AND SUPPER

The regular monthly coffee party and supper under the auspices of the Ladies' social circle of the Grace Universalist church was held last evening in the church vestry with a large number of participants attending. Supper was served at 6:30 followed by a one-act comedy, "The Girls Who Paid the Bills," given by members of the Dramatic club of the First Congregational church.

Mrs. Arthur Ober and Mrs. James Evans, had charge of the supper while Mrs. Fred Farina and Mrs. Chester Smith had charge of the dining room and were assisted by a group of young people of the church.

The tables on which domestic and fancy articles were on sale were well patronized and were in charge of the following members of the church: domestic table, Mrs. Harry Deane;

ploy at the time the children were born and was not away for any length of time just previous thereto, as had been testified. Chester Bachelder and George J. Ford of Braintree corroborated her. In the days recalled, about 1898 and 1900, Bachelder was a store-keeper and Ford a horse-trader in the vicinity of the Merrill home.

Bought His "Bucky" Regularly

Bachelder introduced his store books showing Edward Merrill was a regular tobacco customer and made purchases right along during the time other witnesses testified he was mostly away from home. The horse-trader's statements were corroboratory.

Mrs. William Osha of Randolph, Vt., lived about a third of a mile from the Merrill farm at the time the two Merrill boys were born, she testified, and remembered the births well, being able to tell each person in the Merrill home on both occasions.

Heard Estate Worth $3,000,000

She testified that she received a visit from Herbert J. Spear of this city before the present petition reached a hearing in which he informed that

Mrs. Gourley, a relative of Battles, had died and left an estate of three million dollars which the Merrill boys wished to share on the allegation that they are the legitimatized sons of and seated while being examined.

subsequent marriage.

he said we shouldn't let all that money go to heirs way out in California," re her quavering voice would permit.

Guy Adelbert Osha, her son, was called as the next witness. It was growing near 4 o'clock and Judge White adjourned for the day as he

NEW PLAN FOR DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Enforcement of the prohibition laws would be placed in a separate bureau in the treasury department under terms of a bill filed by Representative Chittenden of Vermont, it was announced today he had prepared for introduction.

The internal revenue bureau, now in charge of this work, Mr. Chittenden said, was overburdened with duties in the administration of the laws.

"Prohibition enforcement," he declared, "involving as it does the great problem of supremacy of law and order in the nation, is a task sufficiently great to justify the organization of a bureau for that specific purpose."

VENIZELOS NOT TO RETURN TO GREECE

ATHENS, Dec. 7.—Former Premier Venizelos, who is now in London, has telegraphed the centralizer of the demonstration to be held next Sunday. He means to accept their invitation to return to Greece, but that he is willing to serve his country. If a non-political council of state is reestablished without opposition, Venizelos will serve on it for two years, his message said.

SALE AND SOCIAL IN CHURCH VESTRY

The vestry of the Highland Union M. E. church was the scene of a very successful sale and social last evening under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the church. Mrs. O. C. Johnson, president of the society, was general chairman, and received capable assistance on the tables, the supper which preceded the sale, and the entertainment program which was given during the evening. The personnel of the various committees follows:

Support committee: Mrs. A. B. Garrison, chairman. Mrs. Herbert Vroomans, co-chairman. Mrs. Herbert Vroomans, co-chairman. Mrs. Earl Huse and Mrs. W. R. Kilpatrick, Mrs. Fredie by Mr. and Mrs. Earl Huse and Vernon Huse, steward of church; Arthur Dwyer, readings. Mrs. Ruth Green, and solos by Rev. E. E. Jackman, pastor of the church, accompanied by Mrs. Earl Huse.

LIKE CANDY BETTER THAN REAL FOOD

Lunchroom tickets may have to be distributed to children of some Chalmers school in the future. If the pupils are to receive nourishing food instead of candy, it will be purchased by the parents who will be asked to stop giving their children loose change, thus compelling them to purchase of the warm foods provided for them in the winter months.

Sales tables committee: Fancy table, Mrs. John Washburn, chairman. Mrs. J. Fred Wash, Mrs. G. A. German, Mrs. Earl Huse, Miss Leland Henderson, candy table, Mrs. W. D. Large, chairman, Mrs. A. J. Knapp, Mrs. W. J. Lynch, Mrs. William Farrell; ice cream, Mrs. C. W. Winters, chairman. Mrs. George McElroy; lemonade, Mrs. Priscilla Perrington; grad table, Miss Mildred Johnson, Miss Ethel Thompson.

The entertainment program was mu-chched and more than 400 children formerly partook regularly of an inviting menu, paying small sums in cash for meals ordered. Of late, however, the school lunch room contains fewer pupils than has been the rule in the past. The last count on Monday was 51.

Chalmers school teachers claim that many children instead of purchasing their nourishing food prepared for them, hasten during the noon recess to nearby stores and buy copious quantities of candy. It has now suggested that the school lunch tickets will be purchased by the parents who will be asked to stop giving their children loose change, thus compelling them to purchase of the warm foods provided for them in the winter months.

the understanding that he was entitled to all of it, amounting to about 550 tons, but the public service board ruled otherwise.

Supt. Robert Gardner told the board he is anxious to use this coke for fuel at West Sixth street station but does not wish to touch it until Mr. Connor has taken away the amount to which he is entitled.

The board received a communication from Supt. Patrick J. Reynolds pointing out the penalties citizens face who refuse to dump oil on public ways or when streets are being up without first receiving a license from the proper department. He recommended such law violators be taken before the district court and fined. The matter was referred to the superintendent of streets.

The matter of removing snow from sidewalks around city hall, Monument Square, the Armory Auditorium, and City Hospital was brought up by Captain Stephen Kearney, who said those places are under the supervision of departments other than the street department and he felt such departments should see to it that snow is properly taken away. The board felt the same way about it and instructed him to communicate with the departments involved, stating to them that the street department will not clear these walks this winter unless bills are brought out that the street department is entitled to not more than 110 tons under the regulation on which he bought it. He was represented at the meeting by Attorney John J. Farley, who wished to ascertain just how much of the coke his client was entitled to haul away. At the time of the previous controversy it was Mr. Connor's contention that he had bid upon the coke with

BIRD THAT SINGS A "THANKSGIVING" SONG

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.—Long after the lower order of the animal kingdom hibernates—when winter has changed nature's summer grandeur of Glacier National Park into a bleak scene—the pretty little grosbeak perches on the topmost boughs of the highest Rocky Mountain trees and sings more merrily than all the rest of the birds do when they chirp their welcome to the resurrection of vegetation in the springtime.

Just what nature's scheme is in having this lone species of "wurblers" give cheerful expression to her white-mantled desolation has never been plainly explained by government ornithologists of the bureau of national parks.

An old mountain guide volunteered that he thought "every bird like every dog, just has its day."

But Tom Dawson, picturesque Scotch-Indian character and Carlisle graduate, who lived in Glacier Park longer than most human beings, says, "There is more to it than that." This year we saw the grosbeaks swarming on the snow-clad mountainsides, November 29th and he avers this interpretation:

"They plainly were singing notes of

PREDICTS INCREASE IN DEATH RATE

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A slightly increased death rate in the United States and Canada for the year 1923 was predicted in a report of current life insurance mortality records submitted to the seventeenth annual meeting of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents here today. Also it was estimated that the deaths from automobile accidents in 1923 will exceed those of 1922 by nearly 12 per cent.

The combined records of 47 leading life insurance companies showing deaths of policyholders during the first ten months of 1923 were presented by Dr. Harry Toumlin, vice president and medical director of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, Pa. These records show a death rate of 853.1 per 100,000 for the first ten months of the year, as against 84.5 in the like period of 1922 and 82.8 in 1921.

Automobile accidents, influenza and pneumonia were the chief causes of the increased number of deaths among policy holders during the current year. Organic heart diseases, cerebral hemorrhage and Bright's disease also show increases. On the other hand, decreases are noted in typhoid fever, tuberculosis, cancer and suicides. Among children's diseases, scarlet fever, diphtheria and meningitis show decreases, while measles and whooping cough show increases.

The figures reported in Dr. Toumlin's address today cover the deaths among 30,000,000 insured lives during the first ten months of 1923. The total deaths from all causes in his group are 225,385, as compared with 209,056 for the first ten months of last year. Automobile accidents alone took a toll of 3,845 lives in this group, as compared with 3,225 during the same period last year.

"Assuming that deaths among the uninsured occur at the same rate as those among the insured, which is a conservative assumption owing to the fact that insured lives are selected, the total number of deaths in the United States for the full year will amount to more than 1,825,000," said Dr. Toumlin.

"On the same basis the total number of deaths from automobile accidents for the year 1923 will approximate more than 16,000, an increase of nearly 12 per cent in the death rate from that cause over last year.

"The outstanding feature of the ten months' experience—one which is indicative of a very deplorable state of affairs—is the marked increase in deaths from automobile accidents and injuries. There were 620 more actual deaths in the first ten months of 1923 than in the same period of 1922 and the death rate for 100,000 was 14.4, compared with 12.9 in 1922 and 12.3 in 1921.

"Are the state laws and regulations governing the licensing of automobile drivers sufficiently protective? Have our municipalities adopted rules of traffic which will result in the minimum of accidents? Are the punishments for infraction of laws sufficiently severe and properly enforced? Are the parents, more particularly in large centers, ignorant of the terrible risks the children run when playing in the streets, or as the result of careless crossing of thoroughfares? Or shall we have to erect in every city, at every busy corner or congested neighborhood, a monument 'In Memory of Child Life, Sacrificed on the Altar of Haste and Carelessness,' such as that recently dedicated in St. Louis? The situation is such that the widest publication of the figures cited is justified and an immediate and general checking up of the ways and means for improving conditions is urgently demanded.

"It is distinctly encouraging to find a lower rate in the cancer, child-bearing, diphtheria and scarlet fever groups. There have been, too, actually fewer suicides reported in 1923, reflecting in all probability a healthier tone in domestic and business life."

In taking issue with opinions expressed before the British Medical Association regarding the proper Index of health, Dr. Toumlin said:

"That an improvement in the mortality of recent years is due in part at

GO TO NAPA, CAL., TO GET SAILSTAD

Warrants Charging Arson and
Unlawful Disinterment of Body to be Served

Sailstad Said to Be Anxious
to Stand Trial—Girl Companion to Be Taken

SUPERIOR, Wis., Dec. 7.—Armed
with warrants charging arson and unlawful disinterment of a body, Robert E. Kennedy, district attorney, and a party of county officers are en route
to Napa, Cal., to bring back Edward
J. Sailstad, former Eau Claire, Wis.,
phonograph dealer and his stenographer
Dorothy Anderson, who disappeared
more than three years ago.

Sailstad, who in an alleged confession declared that he disinterred a body in a cemetery near his cottage at Lake Nehagamon, burned it with his cottage and then dropped from sight, has declared, according to reports received here from Napa authorities, that
he is anxious to return and stand trial.
The couple is expected here about December 15 or 16.

At the opening yesterday of the grave of Allen McFee, whose body Sailstad is reported to have admitted
he burned in his cottage, Peter Cadigan, of counsel for Sailstad's supposed widow, declared that the discovery of the empty grave settled the Sailstad
mystery.

Sailstad's former wife, Mrs. Leone Sailstad Richardson, however, still
maintains that the arrest of the man
alleged to be Sailstad at Napa, is a
"frameup" of the insurance companies.

DIDN'T WANT TO SEE
BOYS SENT AWAY

One of the many cases disposed of in
a lengthy session of the juvenile court
this morning concerned three West-
ford youths, who some time ago threw
stones at and seriously injured Arthur Pattie of B street, a freight conductor on the Boston & Maine railroad. Mr. Pattie was forced to undergo a series of delicate operations as a result of a bruise inflicted on his forehead when struck by a pointed stone alleged to have been thrown
by one of the boys. The incident occurred in North Chelmsford as a freight train in charge of Mr. Pattie was passing through the town. The three boys were amusing themselves
by "sealing" stones at the train when
one of the missiles went astray and
struck the conductor.

After hearing the evidence and the trials undergone by Mr. Pattie in consequence of the incident, Judge Eng-
right was inclined to send the youths
to the Lyman school, but Mr. Pattie spoke up and said he didn't want to see the boys sent away and that he
was willing to pay all expenses incurred if the court would deal len-
iently with the offenders.

They were placed on probation.

CARRIE E. CARDELL IS
GRANTED DIVORCE

Carrie E. Cardell was divorced from Louis E. Cardell by Judge Leggat in probate court here this morning. She testified she was married in Nashua,
N. H., September 1, 1906, has one son,
and was deserted by her husband,
whom she has not seen or heard from
in ten or twelve years.

On the stand, questioned by W. H.
Wilson, her attorney, she said she last
heard of her husband as in Los Angeles.
Evidence tending to prove he has lived in Chicago with another woman as his wife was introduced.

Mrs. Cardell testified she has every reason to believe Cardell was untrue
to her for some time prior to his deserting her and departing for the west.

Elizabeth McArdle, 116 West street,
was a witness for Mrs. Cardell and testified she has known her for 18 years. She has not seen the husband
in nearly a dozen years, she said.

FINGER CRUSHED

Ralph Bovanzo of 3 Dover street,
an employee of David Ziskind, had a finger crushed this morning while working at 1406 Middlesex street.
He was removed in the ambulance to
St. John's hospital.

KIDNEYS NEED LOTS
OF WATER AT TIMES

If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers,
Also Take a Little Salts

Most folks forget that the kidneys,
like the bowels, sometimes get stuffy
and clogged and need a flushing
occasionally; also we have backache
and dull misery in the kidney region,
severe headaches, rheumatic twinges,
torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness
and all sorts of bladder disorders.
You simply must keep your kidneys
active and clean and the moment you
feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water.
Also get about four ounces of Jod-Salts

This famous salts is made from the
acid of grapes and lemon juice com-

Youth Battles Dual Personality
In Strange Fight For Freedom

PAUL BURGETT

As a model youth, young Burgett was: An active member of a church in Kansas City, Kas. An officer of the Christian Endeavor society of that church. A member of the young men's class of that church. A model son and grandson. Prominent student of Missouri Military Academy. Editor of students' paper at the academy. By N. E. A. Service

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Dec. 7.—Paul Burgett, here, examining psychologists are confronted with one of the most perplexing instances of dual personality on record.

Charged by police with a Jekyll-Hyde existence, the youth, according to authorities, has confessed a hidden crime career, prompted by spasmodic impulses over which he says he had no control.

From model Sunday school attendant to bold bank robber, police say, was but a modest transformation for young Burgett.

Held in a sanitarium for further investigation under a pending prison sentence, Burgett tells of the fight he waged against his evil self to depart from the primrose path and lead a life in keeping with what people who respected him thought he was.

Good folks of the community, who knew him only as a plaus youth, at first discredited the tales of daylight banditry alleged by police.

And one scientist, who has made several tests, pronounces Burgett "the victim of two minds with an inability to control either of them."

Given time, though, this investigator believes that Burgett's better self, which forced him to regular church service, can drive out the criminal ego, which rose to supremacy in the battle for domination of his nature.

"I wanted to go straight," the boy says. "But evil companions and the impulse for crime were too strong."

Meanwhile he is being held in jail. And unless physicians believe that a thorough reformation is possible, he must go to prison for five years.

As a bandit, police charge Burgett: Entered Quindaro State bank, Kansas City, Kas., drove employees into vault and took $4410.

In a daylight holdup relieved First

State bank, Quay, Okla., of $3000.

Held town marshal of Quay and deputies at bay.

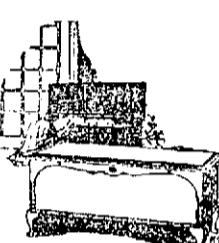

Robbed Grand theatre, Moberly, Mo., and Newman theatre, Kansas City, of over $4000 in daring holdups.

Here's a Timely Warning For the Glad-Hand Boys

DR. S. J. CRUMBLINE

By N.E.A. Service
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 7.—If you must shake hands—

Be careful to wash them before eating.

This is the advice of Dr. S. J. Crumble, former secretary of the Kansas state board of health and now head of a national campaign by the American Child Health association to prevent disease by handshaking.

The campaign is not to be directed against handshaking itself. That would be too much to expect from the American public—just yet. But doctors say they can and will educate the public so that polite other persons will wash their hands after the customary American greeting—at least before meat.

Disease Germs

"When you shake hands with another person," says Dr. Crumble, who won fame through his campaigns against the public drinking cups, roller towels and "swat the fly" propaganda, "his hands may be covered with pneumonococcus or krebssloefler bacillus. You may take those germs into your system when you handle food later in the day. Then you may have pneumonia or diphtheria."

"We have no idea that handshaking can be abolished now. However, some day we may get the public aroused to the point where Americans will adopt the Chinese system and shake their own hands instead of the other fellow's.

Some day, Dr. Crumble predicts, presidents and other men prominent in public life will be relieved of standing and shaking hands for hours with admirers. Then, he says, presidents may live longer.

And the next step after reforming the handshake, Dr. Crumble says, may be the abolition of door knobs, favorite lurking place of disease germs.

"The door knobs," he declares, "may become, as we grow more intelligent in matters of health, as extinct as the dodo bird."

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief? Why cutting and operations fail? Do you know the cause of piles is internal?

That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel?

Do you know that there is a harmless remedy discovered by Dr. Lennhardt and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by Green's drug store and drugists generally, that is guaranteed? HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you.—Adv.

WATCH YOUR FOOD SUPPLIES

BY W. E. TELLING

Executive Committeeman, National

Safety Council

Good food, well cooked, aids life. Poisonous food shatters and destroys life, sometimes slowly over a period of years and sometimes in the space of two hours.

Is your food storage and supply clean?

Clean kitchens and ice box, clean dishes for serving and cooking, clean crockery or porcelain dishes for storage, clean habits and clean habits in storing known poisons in safe places well removed from contact with foods will give protection from food poisons.

Canned foods that explode air when opened are dangerous.

Save all the food you can by storing

it in cool, safe places but never eat any doubtful food.

A dish of left-over food should represent a few cents to be saved but should also represent cheap insurance against harm when there is any doubt of its goodness.

Food producers, canneries, dairies and other sources of food distribution try their utmost to deliver foodstuffs into your home in a sanitary, healthful, appetizing condition. Can you afford to be one less bit careful about the viands eaten by yourself and your family? See that after your kitchen receives the eatables, they are safeguarded as much as they are before they come in.

Happily, food poisoning cases are rare. But when they do occur, remember, they usually bring suffering and death upon every member of the family.

PENSION COMMISSION COMING TO LOWELL

The commission appointed by Governor Channing Cox to investigate the subject of old age and other pensions, will hold a public hearing in the council chamber at Lowell city hall on Thursday evening, Dec. 13, at 7:30 o'clock. The principal subject to be discussed at this hearing is that of old age pensions, particularly for persons in private life.

Members of the commission are Frank H. Hardison of Wellesley, chairman; Mrs. William G. Dwight of Holyoke; Charles J. Madison of Boston; Royal Robbins of Brookline and Prof. A. A. Young of Cambridge. The commission is very anxious to sound out public opinion on this important subject and to secure as much information as possible to enable it to make a complete report.

This commission was established by the provisions of Chapter 43 of the Re-solve of 1922 for the purpose of considering the entire problem of pensions, retirement allowances and payments in the nature of pensions, whether to officers of employees retired or retiring from the public service, or to persons in private life who, by reason of injury or otherwise, are no longer able to support themselves in gainful occupations.

The resolve provides that in connection with the study of old age pensions, the commission shall ascertain the number of persons who would be entitled to the benefits of such a system of pensions, the probable initial expense incident to its establishment, the expense throughout a period of 25 years thereafter and the effect which such establishment might have on the amount of funds expended in public and private charity.

The commission is directed to prepare figures showing to what extent the commonwealth and its several subdivisions have already expended public funds during the past 25 years, by way of aid to mothers with dependent children, juvenile aid and poor relief and to estimate the probable increase in such expenditure under existing law during the next 25 years.

The commission is also directed to investigate the workings of the present retirement and pension plans for public employees.

The commission is directed to study and compare the pension and retirement system of other states and other countries in respect to public and private systems.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

President Coolidge's first message to Congress was concise, comprehensive and progressive. His modest reduction in taxation as proposed by Secretary Mellon, the paramount duty of economy and the basis of a general economic policy over all the functions of the government. In this he will receive the endorsement of all classes throughout the country, and his policy will doubtless have little opposition from any of the political parties and blocs which now make up the congress. The other great financial question upon which the president's views were expected to win, the soldiers' bonus is sidetracked by the adoption of the tax reduction policy that would make the granting of the bonus an impossibility.

In dealing with foreign affairs President Coolidge states the fact that our people have refused to ratify the covenant of the League of Nations and that he does not wish to offer any chance of policy on that question inasmuch as to regards the incident closed so far as we are concerned. He does, however, favor a world court with certain reservations that would safeguard our freedom and independence, as a convenient instrument of adjustment to which we could go but to which we could not be brought. His attitude against cancellation of our loans to European nations is logical and correct. He points out that the deferred interest alone amounts to a million dollars a day. He holds very properly that these financial obligations are also moral obligations and that we are still making sacrifices in behalf of a peaceful and stabilized Europe.

On the question of aiding the farmers the message is particularly strong and his vigorous plea for legislation to enable the farmers attain prosperity, will doubtless be appreciated by the diverse congressional blocs and the representatives of the farming states.

In reference to education and child labor, the president recommends an amendment to the constitution providing for a child labor law, and although he treats education as a local problem in which "the students and parents should have the largest choice" yet he favors the proposed establishment of a department of education with a place in the cabinet in line with the agitation conducted by the National Education Association. As presented by the president, it is modified as much as possible so that its function in his view would be conservative rather than directive in working for the removal of illiteracy and other subjects of welfare, but he would not favor a federal appropriation for local education which is contrary to the bureaucratic measures proposed.

In reference to immigration, the president would favor the migration of all aliens, and his statement that those who do not partake of the American spirit should not settle in America will be generally approved. Where the Coolidge courage is shown most particularly is in his discussion of the duty of the government to aid the disabled veterans, in which he specifically declares that he does not favor the granting of a bonus to the able-bodied veterans.

That is a bold statement to make on the approach of a national convention in which he is a candidate but in all probability, it will increase his prestige, since the strong influence of the American Legion most of whose members favor the bonus. Congress may take a different stand on this measure, however, and if so, the president may have to follow the example of his predecessor in voting the bill.

Relative to railroads and coal, two questions of prime importance to the nation, the president favors consolidation of the railroads in regional groups as the only feasible method of maintaining an adequate system of transportation, with a general readjustment of freight rates to meet such temporary conditions as now prevail in some agricultural districts. He also recommends an entire reorganization of the rate structure for freight and considers it incumbent upon congress to order such change without delay. This does not mean a reduction of rates. Relative to coal he holds that in case of prospective interruption the president should have authority to appoint a commission to deal with any emergency that might arise and to be authorized with broad authority for bringing about a settlement. In the mining and distribution of coal he holds the public interest to be paramount and any movement to that effect is worth the support of every patriotic American. It should be conducted on an off-the-plate basis to that it is not openly recognized that a commission is being appointed to deal with the coal situation.

The history also has a record of coal that corresponds in time to that of iron. Thus is shown clearly the antecedents of the title.

How much of the president's sound recommendations will be put into effect by Congress? This is and probably always will be different in theory and practice.

Mustard Missing

The young man, who had secured a new seat in the gallery of the theater, had brought a packet of sandwiches with him. He accidentally let it fall. They dropped into the pit, and the stars immediately began to fall which had come from the gods. Suddenly the look of enjoyment vanished from his face. He looked up toward the gallery and shouted crossly: "You might have put some mustard on them."

Gas Meter Face

After not having met for a very long time, two friends ran across one another in the street one day. One of them noticed that the other's nose and complexion had taken on a decidedly ruby hue and he began to inquire. "I've just come from the hospital," he bluntly protested, informing the other that he should not judge by appearance, as he only took one glass a day. "Ah, well," was the reply, "you face, perhaps, is like our gas meter it registers more than it consumes."

Stormy Outlook

A gentlewoman rancher fell in love with a society girl from the east who was visiting at the adjacent ranch. It was decided to have the wedding in a little town nearby. Many fashionable girls came up to attend. The foreman of the ranch was very much upset over the wedding. The evening of the wedding, the friends of the bride on the other, the heating this he cheered up visibly and said for his revolver. The groom asked him what on earth that meant. "Why," said the foreman, "I see you expect a fight."

Stock But Witty

Young Steve, unable to get a job in the navy. Here, as in civil life, his stockiness threatened to get him into hot water and several times the master-at-arms, whose duty it is to see the hands turned out and the hammocks made, would call him in and him and shout at him. At last, after one very bad offense, he took Steve before the commander. "This is a serious case," said the officer, when he had heard the facts. "What have you to say?" "I shall say nothing," replied Steve, "but I shall say nothing to everybody's asthmatic captain. Have you ever been up before me since you joined the ship?" "None, sir. What time do you mostly get up?"

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

INTERNATIONAL LOAN

Futile to Discuss it Until Reparations Question is Settled, Says Warburg

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The futility of discussing the international loan and stabilization schemes until the reparations question has been settled in a practical way, was emphasized by Paul Warburg yesterday in an address at the fifth annual meeting of the American Acceptance Council.

Mr. Warburg, who is president of the council, expressed satisfaction with progress made during the past year in obtaining general recognition and adoption of sound principles and practices in the art of making and distributing American bankers' and trade acceptances.

However, he pointed out, since the bulk of bankers' acceptances are based upon foreign trade, it is the volume of international commerce that determines the growth of American acceptance banking. It is natural, therefore, he asserted, to look closely into the European political situation.

"It is distressing," he said, "to realize that modern democracies are so deficient in power of imagination that it is utterly hopeless by an appeal to their intelligence to make them visualize the logical, inescapable consequences of their course."

"Evidently the cruel cup of waste and horrors must be dangled to the bottom before those blinded by fear and fury, or chewing their end in fat apathy, can be aroused to realize and accept a bitter truth based on hard facts. Suffering and pain in their own bodies alone will succeed, it seems, where the appeal to sanity failed."

Meanwhile, he added, "the disorganization of foreign exchanges runs its fatal course, and the flow of gold to our shores continues with grim consistency."

These circumstances, Mr. Warburg admitted, have greatly helped American bankers to popularize the use of dollar bankers' acceptances in all parts of the world. There can be little doubt, he said, that the dollar acceptance will retain its place permanently at the side of the sterling bill.

Declaring he was not unmindful that the words "tax exemption" are anathema for most people, Mr. Warburg suggested that the income from eligible bankers' acceptances be exempted from the normal tax only for acceptances in the hands of foreign holders and of banks, savings banks, insurance companies and investment corporations in the United States.

Such action, he said, would not mean the kind of exemption that is objectionable because it renders tax immune large individual incomes. Instead, he said, it would mean the substitution of bankers' acceptances for single name promissory notes and would bring about an enlarged supply of liquid paper which is an essential step forward in the direction of perfecting the nation's banking system.

Norton Evens Score With Boyle—Ponies and Princetons Ready for Game

TANSEY NORTON WINS DECISION MALLORY OF YALE, STAR OF DIAMOND AND GRID PLANS COMPLETED FOR BIG SUNDAY GAME

Roxbury Jouth Jumps Into Lead in Early Fighting, But Boyle Stages Spectacular Rally in Eighth—Big Crowd Enjoys Battle—Duffy Wins Over O'Neil

Tansey Norton of Roxbury and Phinney Boyle of Lowell, meeting for the second time in two weeks, battled through ten hectic rounds in the main and feature event of the Moody club card in Crescent Park last night. Norton was awarded the decision.

The attendance taxed the capacity of the hall with visitors from other cities being numerous. A large delegation came from Roxbury, others were on hand from Lawrence, Nashua and Woburn. All came prepared to witness a thrilling match and none was disappointed.

Norton entered the ring weighing 143, Boyle tipped the scales at 141½. In the other bout Boyle fought at 143, while Norton was two pounds lighter. Johnny Bragel of Boston, was the referee, and Messrs. McDermott and Gracken, both of Boston, were the judges.

The "all" Boston aspect of the officials did not appeal to the Roxbury followers and they declared Phinney would have to knock out his man to land the award. But as soon as the bell rang, arguments and criticism of the assigning of the officials were forgotten and the rosters began to cheer and yell encouragement to their favorite. In the Roxbury delegation were several of the fair sex and they were among the most enthusiastic roasters in the hall.

Norton tore at Boyle at the top of the first song and he launched a whirlwind attack, shooting lefts and rights at Boyle from all angles and jumping right into the lead. He evidently tried to put over a haymaker and he connected with a couple of wicked smashes to head that looked for a moment as if he would attain his objective. Norton's long left penetrated Boyle's guard and found his mark. Phinney, while driven back to the ropes, returned to the centre fighting tooth and nail. It was a round of abundant action with Norton well in the lead. Norton continued his offensive endeavor as the bout progressed. Boyle apparently a little over confident because of his victory in the last bout, appeared content to let Norton do the forcing, but here he made a mistake.

In the first preliminary, Johnny McBride of Lawrence was given the decision over Tommy Leonard of Lowell after six peppery rounds. The verdict was popular with the crowd and they boozed for several minutes.

The second preliminary was short and sweet, lasting less than a minute. Frankie Cryan, Jack Wagner's Lawrence harp artist, met Soller Stanley of Charlestown. Yes, he met him on the chin and the taller sank to the floor, there to remain with the referee a matter of some five or six rounds.

Fired With Ambition

Mallory, who now reached an all-time high in that he had won all one of his first six bouts in the sport, this same Mallory wasn't good enough to play on his own hometown school team a matter of some five or six rounds ago.

Mallory did his "upping" at the local university school which annually turns out a crack-kid team. Mallory came out for the team, a tall, swarthy, looks lad with a keenness for the fight and an irrepressible ambition to make the team.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

MEMPHIS, Dec. 5.—Today Bill Mallory is in a name to censure with in college football. The nation esteems him as one of the outstanding players of the year. To Yale and to Yale men he ranks with the immortals. What they was in the victorious Blue of another decade "Memphis Bill" is to triumphal Eels today.

An inspiring leader, a magnificent player, the southern boy, placing a hard-fisted position, has been an important factor in putting Yale football back on the map.

It was probably fitting that this quiet spoken, well-built blond young man should be the captain of the first undefeated team in New Haven university history produced in years.

And yet Mallory was not always a great football player. Back here in his home town the citizen can recall when he was not a football player at all except at heart. Story has it that he had the marks of an exceptionally fine, but in his younger days as him neither the skill nor the power to back them up.

igned to be kept for that berth on the varsity line, kept trying all during his stay here. Either the opposition was most formidable or else Mallory was some what deadwood anyway, for after getting very far out of the school team, naturally when he went away, and eventually landed at Yale, his old buds at home didn't expect he would exactly burn up the athletic world, certainly not as a football player or baseball player.

Then It Happened

But strange things happen in this world.

Not only did Mallory immediately make the Yale football varsity but he promptly became the most important cog in the whole Yale team, and finally was captain.

Mallory, Mallory became one of the greatest catchers who ever played on the Yale varsity, and last spring he was named captain of the Yale nine. One of John Metcalf's scouts in aid to have made him an offer to try out with the Giants, after which he was not recruited by the Yankees.

There is a moral of some sort connected with this story about Mallory. He had ambition to start with and backed it up with relentless perseverance. Ambition and perseverance are a good pair to draw to, whether you are playing the game of sport or the game of life.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS SALE IS BIG SUCCESS

The annual Christmas sale under the auspices of St. Michael's Charly guild witnessed an auspicious opening yesterday afternoon and last night, hundreds of friends of the organization, not only in St. Michael's parish, but from other parishes in the city as well, visiting the beautifully decorated hall in the new school and expressing admiration of the attractive layout of articles on display in the several booths.

In a semi-circle arrangement, the booths are distributed about the hall. The decorations in themselves are well worth a visit to the scene, for the committee in charge spent no little time and energy in making it seem with the spirit of Christmas, good will and charity. President Patrick Bradley presided at the council meeting in Labor hall on Central street and the attendance of delegates was large.

NOT A CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

In view of the fact that the nomination of officers for Division 10, the Lowell division of the Charitable Union, is to be held next Tuesday, President Thomas F. Boyle announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election.

Mr. Boyle has served as president of the local union during the past two years and in his 21 years as a carpenter and member of the local union has always been an energetic worker in union matters. His announcement of his refusal to run for office again this year will be met with regret by his fellow workers.

Messages Warn Aviator Planning Altitude Smash

By N.E.A. Service

DAYTON, O., Dec. 7.—"God does not wish you to make this flight."

"He surely will punish you if you attempt it."

"You will fly so high you will keep on going, never to walk upon this earth again."

Pleasant thoughts, indeed, for Lieutenant John A. Macready, intrepid flyer from McCook field here, to ponder over way up in the clouds, as he all alone, soars higher and higher into uncharted realms, fully aware that should any wayward move spells certain death.

Gobs of unsolicited advice like this are coming to the ace of American army flyers, as he prepares for the big job ahead—the breaking of all existing altitude records.

Laughs Off Fanatics

But Macready laughs at them. And at the warnings from "scientific sources," too. Nothing can deter him from his purpose.

"Just the work of fanatics," he says.

Yet he admits there is plenty of danger ahead and above.

"You have to guard against cold, lack of oxygen and lack of pressure," he tells us. "The last is the worse of all, becomes noticeable after passing the 30,000-foot mark."

"It slows up all the body's movements. On my last trip (referring to his 34,000-foot flight), I wanted to look at the tachometer. Believe me, it took me some time to make up my mind to do it."

Cold Numb Brain

"It probably was 40 seconds before I discovered I was gazing at the air-speed indicator. It takes quite a while for a bit of inattention to seep through your brain, under conditions like that."

"Pass 30,000 feet the air pressure is 14.7 pounds square inch. By the time you get up to 40,000, the scientist fig-slowly. When I reached the 'absolute ceiling' I floated around for four or five minutes trying to decide how I was going to get down again."

"Getting down below the 30,000-foot level, the normal use of the sense returns. But a feeling of utter fatigue and exhaustion creeps over one, it takes a day to get back to normal again."

Macready's trip already is rousing more interest than the world series, a Jack Dempsey bout or a race between two thoroughbreds.

"Can he make it?"

"That's the question on every tongue. But Macready is certain he can."

PARKER LECTURE
COURSE PROGRAMS

Two excellent entertainments are listed for Lowell in the Parker course Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon, both to be given at the Memorial Auditorium.

Saturday evening Newman, world renowned traveler and lecturer, will give his illustrated talk on expeditions deep into South American jungles and on Sunday afternoon Lorraine Wyman will give a splendid program of folk songs.

Tickets for the Sunday afternoon series only may be obtained on application at the book desk at the city library.

LIEUTENANT JOHN A. MACREADY IN EARTHLY ATTIRE, AND IN THE GROTESQUE GARB HE WILL WEAR ON HIS ALTITUDE FLIGHT

ure it simmers down to 2.5 pounds. May be I can find out definitely whether they're right on that point.

"At high levels you think clearly but it's all wear."

Three suits of heavy woolen underwear.

His regular street clothes.

Another suit of heavy underwear over there.

Then a heavy feather flying suit, feather-lined, sewed over with silk, looking considerably like a matress.

A pair of heavy sheep shoes and a pair of fur-lined moccasins.

His head will be covered by a fur-lined flying hood, with only two openings for his nostrils.

His fingers will be smeared with frost-resisting gelatin.

An air line will extend from the hood. Through it he will breathe oxygen when he strikes purified air at 34,000 feet. Macready says one encounters a temperature of 75 degrees below zero.

HUMANE SOCIETY MAN
HAD DIFFICULT JOB

Harrison Baker of the Lowell Humane Society, received a horrible surprise yesterday when he was called to a house in Liley avenue, to take care of a cat which had made an entrance into an old hot air furnace. On opening the door of the furnace he discovered that the animal in question was not a domestic feline, but a peregrine. The little fellow had been living in the furnace for a period of two weeks and was as fat as butter, although the source of his food is still a mystery, and as soon as he got the first whiff of chloroform from the sponge with which the agent wished to lull him to sleep everlasting, he disappeared into a crevice in the interior of the heating plant and it was only after great difficulty that he was worked into a position where he could be shot without seriously embarrassing Mr. Baker.

AUDITORIUM FILLED
COL. FORBES SAID TO BE

Capacity Audience Warmly
Greets John McCormack,
Most Popular of Tenors

John McCormack, most popular of all tenors, came to the Memorial Auditorium last evening and gave a song recital that could not fail to add to the prestige he already enjoys in Lowell. A capacity audience was present to greet him, and greet him they did with an expression of admiration that could not be mistaken. In the depth of its sincerity, he sang before friends and sang his way right into their hearts. There is no one just like him and in a recital of songs we all love to hear he stands supreme.

Mr. McCormack was most ably assisted by Lauri Kennedy, cellist, and Edwin Schneider, pianist, in the presentation of his program.

A glance at the program showed wherein Mr. McCormack planned to win his audience, for it was carefully designed to bring into use several of the songs people best like to hear him sing, albeit many of them came as encores, such as "Mavis," "Mother Macree," and "Annie Laurie." But for all the appeal these songs carry, and no one will gainsay them, do not touch at the very heartstrings of an audience for sheer beauty of tone and artistic interpretation, nothing he did last night matched his opening number, the aria, "My Heart With Tendrils Swells," from Handel's "Hercules." It was most beautifully sung and certainly placed the audience in just the proper mood for the many good things which followed.

The McCormack voice today is the McCormack voice of yesterday to all appearances. It still carries the attribute of earnest pleading and deep appeal and as a singer of love songs he still remains unapproachable. The thrill of power is there, too, and he seems capable of handling this marvelous voice organ with all the facility and flexibility that have marked it in the past. His head tones still have faintly spun whispers of tone, true to pitch and lovely in effect. The king of song he is called and rightly so, for none has yet come to seriously question his right of rule.

In his second group of songs, which included two German compositions by Hugo Wolf and a prayer to God to protect the feet of little children by S. Rachmaninoff, Mr. McCormack reached the pinnacle of success. In Elgar's "Is She Not Passing Fair?" it was one of the highlights of the program.

After intermission a group of Irish folk songs called for tremendous waves of applause and it was after this group that the singer added "Mavis" and "Mother Macree." He brought his program to a close with a group of four songs, featuring a combination of success. In Elgar's "Is She Not Passing Fair?" it was one of the highlights of the program.

After intermission a group of Irish folk songs called for tremendous waves of applause and it was after this group that the singer added "Mavis" and "Mother Macree." He brought his program to a close with a group of four songs, featuring a combination of success. In Elgar's "Is She Not Passing Fair?" it was one of the highlights of the program.

At intervals during the program Mr. Kennedy gave solo selections of real merit and also forced to respond to a demand for encores. Throughout the accompaniments of Mr. Schneider were most helpful.

A most considerate thing was done by Mr. McCormack when he came out for his second group of songs and invited the recumbent sitting upon the stage to go down to the floor and take the few remaining chairs there. "You will be able to hear so much better," he said.

The local management was in the hands of John L. Donovan of Lawrence who was most satisfied with the success achieved.

Coolidge's Message
Clears Atmosphere

gram as embodied in a preliminary draft bill sent to the house yesterday by Secretary Mellon differs in material aspect from the proposals in this direction announced recently by the republican leaders in the house. Other subjects treated by Mr. Coolidge, which leaders generally say will furnish substance for congress include the soldiers' bonus, adherence to the world court with reservations; amendment to the transportation act; relief for agriculture in general and the meat growers in particular; and anti-lynching legislation.

Bills embodying several of the recommendations of President Coolidge already have been introduced and others will be presented later. None of them can be acted upon until the committees of the house and senate have been organized and made their reports.

Congress was in recess today until next Monday, out of respect to the memory of President Harding, but its leaders were not inactive. There were frequent conferences regarding legislation and other matters, but the chief work under way was that of determining the assignment of senators and representatives to the various standing committees.

Democrats of the house were called in a party caucus to select their members of the ways and means committee, who, in turn will make assignments of democrats to other committees. The democratic steering committee in the senate was still engaged in the same task.

Representative Green, of Iowa, president of the house ways and means committee, hopes to have that committee organized early next week so as to take up tax revision promptly. He said the preliminary draft bill furnished by Secretary Mellon would be used as a basis of discussion.

Republican insurgents on the committee and the democrats will have proposals respecting tax revision, and the process of accommodating the conflicting views and writing a measure for house consideration is expected to be a rather lengthy one.

Daniels Runs Message

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 7.—Joseph Daniels, secretary of the navy during the Wilson administration, declared that President Coolidge's message to Congress was neither "constructive nor inspirational."

He asserted that the president's attitude, toward foreign relations was apparently based on a desire to make some concessions to the progressive elements of his party without arousing the opposition of the old guard.

Paris Comment

PARIS, Dec. 7.—Extracts from President Coolidge's message to Congress more especially those devoted to the foreign relations of the United States are printed prominently by the newspapers today, but few commentators venture to express editorial opinion.

After an analysis of the principal points of the message the Echo de Paris says: "America, as is natural, intends to defend her own interests exclusively; indeed, she disavows any other preoccupation. If she concedes us the same right, our policy in reparations and national security can be followed out without encountering any obstacle from her."

LONDON Comment on Message

LONDON, Dec. 7.—President Coolidge's message received less attention from the newspapers than it would were the country not in the midst of an election. Most of the newspapers print the message in condensed form, but none comment on it except the Times, which says it is marked by a clearness of statement on many important subjects that has not always distinguished the communications of the president's predecessors.

"It is an emphatic profession of the family creed of the president's party," says the Times, "chiefly remarkable for the precision with which it reaffirms the dogma of aloofness from the chief questions that distract the old world."

Referring to Mr. Coolidge's remarks about the League of Nations, the newspaper says: "The day may perhaps come when the League will find full favor in American eyes with the permanent court."

USING MAILS TO DEFRAUD CHARGED

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Charged with using mails to defraud investors, Alberto E. Guimaraes, who figured in the Dorothy King murder case; Frank B. Sheldon, Henry W. Field; Walter W. Bergberg, Sydney Bennett and William B. Kass today were placed on trial in federal court.

The indictment alleged the defendants, under fictitious names, were alleged to be Norman J. Bosch & Co., Arnold Blockstone and Raymond Mitchell. The indictment was produced on evidence obtained by post office inspectors.

SHOT WIFE ON WAY TO CHURCH; ENDS LIFE

ROME, Dec. 7. (By the Associated Press.)—According to authoritative sources in the Vatican, it is considered probable that Archbishop Mundelein of Chicago and Hayes of New York will be elevated to the cardinalate at a consistory to be held before Easter, together with several Spaniards and perhaps one South American prelate.

It is certain, according to the same authorities, that no foreign cardinal will be created at the forthcoming consistory on Dec. 29. Definite assurance as to who will receive the red hat was lacking in view of the reserve maintained by the pope, but it is assumed that the only cardinals created will be Evaristo Lucidi, auditor to the pope, and Msgr. Aurelio Galli, director of the Vatican museum.

The report that Archbishop Mundelein of Cincinnati would be elevated which report was denied yesterday, may have originated from the superposition advanced in some quarters that the pope wished to appoint only one American and not like to indicate a preference between Archbishops Mundelein and Hayes, might choose another.

PROCLAIMS HARDING
MEMORIAL WEEK

BOSTON, Dec. 7.—Gov. Cox proclaimed the week of Dec. 9 to Dec. 15 as Harding Memorial week. He not only urges religious, business, social, fraternal and civic bodies to commemorate in a fitting manner the late president, but calls attention to the plan for a Harding memorial, which he earnestly indorses, as follows:

"Now, therefore, I, Channing H. Cox, governor of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, do hereby proclaim for this purpose the week of Dec. 9 to Dec. 15 as Harding Memorial week, and urge all religious, business, social, fraternal and civic bodies to commemorate our late president in a fitting manner at one of their regular or special services or meetings, and to contribute to this memorial according to their means and inclination.

"It would be most fitting for all our colleges and schools, both public and private, to hold exercises which may set forth the duties and powers of the president of the United States and emphasize the tremendous responsibilities and burdens which that office imposes. May every student in our colleges and schools have some part, however small, in establishing a suitable memorial to a sincere and devoted leader, who gave his all in the service of his country in a most difficult period.

"In the calm review of President Harding's labor for the welfare of our times, and in preserving the example of his sacrifice, we may find new inspiration to be worthy citizens of a country which has enjoyed noble leadership."

More Than Gasoline

Your first consideration in buying gasoline and motor oils is quality. And in selecting the filling station to secure your requirements you are guided by this thought. But there are other important factors which determine your selection. You want and you are entitled to something more.

Courteous Service

At COLONIAL STATIONS you not only get superior products, but find attendants who will always help you in any way they can cheerfully and promptly.

At COLONIAL STATIONS are oil racks where you can have your crank case drained after every 500 miles, without charge except for the oil used. You will also find road maps, toilets, distilled water for your battery, all of which are free to our patrons. When you drive in you receive a cheerful welcome from our attendants, eager to do all they can to make it a pleasure for you to call again.

At COLONIAL STATIONS quality is the first consideration—quality products and quality service.

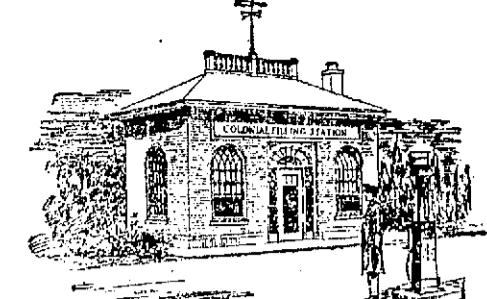

There are two Colonial Filling Stations in Lowell. We invite you to make them your regular stopping places and to feel free at all times to use the conveniences we have provided.

Celery King

Celery is popular today. It costs but a little but is a health builder. Is worth its weight in gold.

Normal bowel action, perfect working stomach and sweet breath follow its use.

The children drink it and enjoy it; add it to the diet; nothing laxative they can take is equally good when they are fretful, irritable and feverish.

NEW PLAN FOR DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Enforcement of the prohibition laws would be placed in a separate bureau in the treasury department under terms of a bill which Representative Cramton, announced today he had prepared for introduction.

The internal revenue bureau, now in charge of this work, Mr. Cramton said was overburdened with duties in the administration of the tax laws. "Prohibition enforcement, he said, should be left as it is, as the great problem of supremacy of law and order in the nation is a task sufficiently great to justify the organization of a bureau for that specific purpose."

were parked in narrow Prescott street. There were no more tie-ups. The traffic owners apparently gone for a stretch of several hours. The stage was all set and the drama of congestion swiftly unfolded. Electric cars attempting to pass through Prescott street found their way blocked as if by a stone wall. Gradually all motion ceased and for exactly seven minutes traffic was in complete stagnation.

By frantic work Officers Conway and Maroney cleared the mess and then went into action on their own initiative. Maroney went back to his post in the square and kept everything moving at top speed. Conway went to the intersection of Central and Prescott streets and did not allow any vehicles to enter from that end.

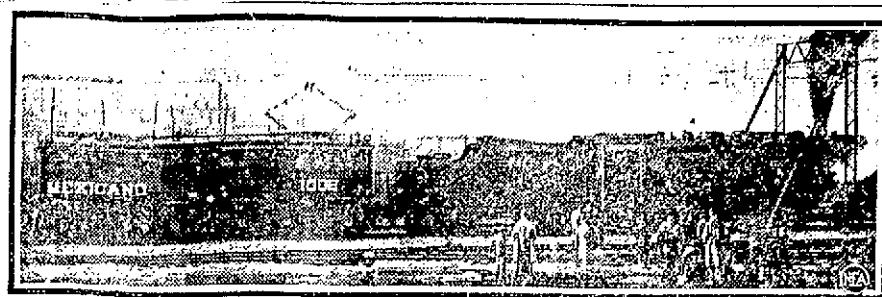

From the once Prescott street was made a one-way thoroughfare, and the effect upon the easy passage of traffic in the square was instantaneous.

Haul it Away

The water department coke taken out of the filters early this year was again a subject for discussion at the meeting of the board of public service yesterday afternoon, and M. F. Connor who has purchased 100 tons more or less, was given until Saturday, Dec. 15, to haul it away. Unless this order of notice is complied with the coke will be hauled to the West Sixth street plant and used for fuel by the water works.

It was brought out that Mr. Connor has drawn away 54 tons and the board decided he is entitled to not more than 110 tons under the acquisition on which he bought it. He was represented at the meeting by Attorney John J. Farley, who wished to ascertain just how much the same way about it and instructed the coke's client was entitled to him to communicate with the departments involved, stating to them that controversy it was Mr. Connor's contention that he had bid upon the coke with these words this winter unless bills cov-

SALE AND SOCIAL IN CHURCH VESTRY

The vestry of the Highland Union M. E. church was the scene of a very successful sale and social last evening under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the church. Mrs. O. C. Johnson, president of the society, was general chairman, and received capable assistance on the tables. The supper which preceded the sale and the entertainment program which was given during the evening. The personnel of the various committees follow:

Supper committee: Mrs. A. B. Cameron, chairman, Mrs. Herbert Yeomans, Mrs. W. R. Kilpatrick, Mrs. Fred Timmins, and dining room service by Mrs. H. J. Maguire, chairman, Mrs. W. H. Hood, Mr. and Mrs. John Osborne, Miss Nina White, Miss Edna Harrison and Mrs. Arline Henderson.

Sales tables committee: Fancy table, Mrs. John Washburn, chairman, Mrs. J. Fred Walsh, Mrs. G. A. Gorman, Mrs. Earl Huse, Mrs. Leland Henderson, Candy table, Mrs. W. D. Large, chairman, Mrs. A. J. Knapp, Mrs. W. L. Leach, Mrs. William Farrell; Ice cream, Mrs. O. W. Winters, chairman, Mrs. George McElroy; Lemonade, Mrs. Present Perrin; Grab table, Miss Ethel Johnson, Miss Ethel Timmins.

The entertainment program was un-school and more than 100 children formerly partook regularly of an inviting menu, paying small sums in cash for meals ordered. Of late, however, the school lunch room contains fewer pupils than has been the rule in the past. The last count on Monday was 51.

Chelmsford school teachers claim that many children, instead of purchasing the nourishing food prepared for them, hasten during the noon recess to nearby stores and buy candies quantifying of candies. It is now suggested that weekly meal tickets be purchased by the parents, who will be asked to stop giving their children loose change, thus compelling them to partake of the warm foods provided for them in the winter months.

LIKE CANDY BETTER THAN REAL FOOD

Luncheon tickets may have to be distributed to children of school Chelmsford schools in the future, if the pupils are to receive nourishing foods instead of candy sweets purchased from village stores. Hot lunches are now regularly served at the Central street in 1923 will exceed those of 1922 by over 12 per cent.

BIRD THAT SINGS A "THANKSGIVING" SONG

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 7.—Long after the lower order of the animal kingdom hibernates—when winter has changed nature's summer grandeur of Glacier National Park into a bleak scene—the pretty little grosbeak perches on the topmost boughs of the highest Rocky Mountain trees and sings more merrily than all the rest of the birds do when they chirp their welcome to the resurrection of vegetation in the springtime.

Just what nature's scheme is in having this lone species of "warblers"

The combined records of 47 leading life insurance companies showing deaths of policyholders during the first ten months of 1923 were presented by Dr. Harry Toumlin vice president and medical director of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia, Pa. These records show a death rate of 853.1 per 100,000 for the first ten months of the year, as against 813.1 in the like period of 1922 and 828 in 1921.

Automobile accidents, influenza and pneumonia were the chief causes of the increased number of deaths among policy holders during the current year. Organic heart disease, cerebral hemorrhage and Bright's disease also show increases. On the other hand, decreases are noted in typhoid fever, tuberculosis, cancer and suicides. Among children's diseases, earache, fever, rickets, diarrhea and meningitis show decreases, while measles and whooping cough show increases.

The figures reported in Dr. Toumlin's address today cover the deaths among 26,000,000 insured lives during the first ten months of 1923. The total deaths from all causes in his group are 253,888, as compared with 262,054 for the corresponding period of last year. Automobile accidents alone took a total of 3,845 lives this year, as compared with 3,225 during the same period last year.

It is distinctly encouraging to find a lower rate in the cancer, child-bearing, diphteritic and scarlet fever groups. There have been, too, actually fewer suicides reported in 1923, reflecting in all probability a healthier tone in domestic and business life."

In taking issue with opinions expressed before the British Medical Association regarding the proper index of health, Dr. Toumlin said:

"That an improvement in the mortality of recent years is due in part at least to health conservation work, I have no doubt. I am wholeheartedly a believer in routine physical examinations. It is my belief that the only satisfaction that I have noted throughout the year is very widespread, interest in this subject, as indicated by the articles constantly appearing in medical journals and lay papers, magazines

and periodicals."

TAKE CARE OF YOUR EYES

BY WINIFRED HATHAWAY
Secretary, National Committee for Prevention of Blindness Beware the common towel in your home.
If Pa and Ma and Big Brother from the shop and Sister home from school and Little Johnny all use the same towel, look out!

School children, factory workers and people using household things in common often catch diseases from each other. Many people have an eye disease and do not know it, as some diseases are not easily recognized in the early stages.

The best way to keep from catching an eye disease is to keep from touching the eyes with un-soiled hands, towels and face cloths.

Give each member of the family his own towel and hold on a felonious individual towel. Let Jack's towel off, police was taken to the N.H. have a blue border and Jane's a pink. Hampshire town by representatives of or put their initials in the corner, the law this morning.

Chairman Thomas Cassidy, of the committee representing the Teamsters and Chauffeurs' union, declares that a strike will be prevented if possible, for he has high hopes that an agreement will be made with the coal merchants of Lowell that will be satisfactory to both contending parties in the wage controversy still unsolved. Herbert W. Horne said yesterday that his organization would not tolerate "closed shop" methods. The coal dealers, he said, desire to employ high-class men but in particular men who are members of their organizations. Mr. Horne declared that local teamsters and chauffeurs are receiving higher wages right now than are paid in any other city in New England other than Boston and Brockton.

CHALIFOUX'S—FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

GO TO NAPA, CAL., TO GET SAILSTAD

Warrants Charging Arson and
Unlawful Disinterment of
Body to be Served

Sailstad Said to Be Anxious
to Stand Trial—Girl Com-
panion to Be Taken

SUPERIOR, Wis., Dec. 7.—Armed
with warrants charging arson and unlawful disinterment of a body, Robert E. Kennedy, district attorney, and a party of county officers are en route
to Napa, Cal., to bring back Edward
J. Sailstad, former Eau Claire, Wis.,
phonograph dealer and his stenographer,
Dorothy Anderson, who disappeared
more than three years ago.

Sailstad, who in an alleged confession declared that he disinterred a
body in a cemetery near his cottage at Lake Nehagamon, burned it with his cottage and then disposed of it, has declared, according to reports received here from Napa authorities, that
he is anxious to return and stand trial.
The couple is expected here about De-
cember 15 or 16.

At the opening yesterday of the grave of Allen McFao, whose body Sailstad is reported to have admitted
he burned in his cottage, Peter Cud-gan, of counsel for Sailstad's supposed widow, declared that the discovery of the empty grave settled the Sailstad
mystery.

Sailstad's former wife, Mrs. Leone Sailstad Richardson, however, still
maintains that the arrest of the man
alleged to be Sailstad at Napa, is a
"frameup" of the insurance companies.

DIDN'T WANT TO SEE
BOYS SENT AWAY

One of the many cases disposed of in
a lengthy session of the juvenile court
this morning concerned three West-
ford youths, who some time ago threw
stones at and seriously injured Arthur Patterson of B street, a freight conductor on the Boston & Maine railroad.
Mr. Patterson was forced to undergo a series of delicate operations
as a result of a bruise inflicted on his forehead when struck by a polished
stone alleged to have been thrown
by one of the boys. The incident occurred in North Chelmsford as a freight train in charge of Mr. Patterson was passing through the town. The
three boys were amusing themselves
by "sealing" stones at the train when
one of the missiles went astray and
struck the conductor.

After hearing the evidence and the trials undergone by Mr. Patterson in consequence of the incident, Judge E. H.
Right was inclined to send the youths
to the Lyman school, but Mr. Patterson spoke up and said he didn't want to see the boys sent away and that he
was willing to pay all expenses incurred if the court would deal len-
iently with the offenders.

They were placed on probation.

CARRIE E. CARDELL IS
GRANTED DIVORCE

Carrie E. Cardell was divorced from Louis E. Cardell by Judge Lorigan in probate court here this morning. She
testified she was married in Nashua,
N. H., September 4, 1896, has one son,
and was deserted by her husband,
whom she has not seen or heard from
in ten or twelve years.

On the stand, questioned by W. H.
Wilson, her attorney, she said the last
heard of her husband as in Los Angeles.
Evidence tending to prove he had lived in Chicago with another woman since his wife was introduced.

Mrs. Cardell testified she has every reason to believe Cardell was untrue
to her for some time prior to his deserting her, and departing for the
west.

Elizabeth McArdle, 116 West street,
was a witness for Mrs. Cardell and testified she had known her for 18 years. She has not seen the husband
in nearly a dozen years, she said.

FINGER CRUSHED

Ralph Bovenzi of 8 Dover street,
an employee of David Ziskind, had a
finger crushed this morning while
working at 1199 Middlesex street.
He was removed in the ambulance to
St. John's hospital.

KIDNEYS NEED LOTS
OF WATER AT TIMES

If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers,
Also Take a Little Salts

Most folks forget that the kidneys,
like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish
and clogged and need a flushing
occasionally, else we have backache
and dull misery in the kidney region,
severe headache, rheumatic twinges,
torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness
and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys
active and clean and the moment you
feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water.
Also get about four ounces of bad
Salts from any good drug store here,
take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days
and your kidneys will then act fine.
This famous salts is made from the
acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acid in the urine, so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Bad Salts is inexpensive makes a delightful effervescent tonic water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well known local druggist says
he sells lots of Bad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.
By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year—Adv.

Youth Battles Dual Personality
In Strange Fight For Freedom

PAUL BURGETT

As a model youth, young Burgett was: An active member of a church in Kansas City, Kas. An officer of the Christian Endeavor society of that church. A member of the young men's class of that church. A model son and grandson. Prominent student of Missouri Military academy. Editor of students' paper at the academy. By N. E. A. Service

KANSAS CITY, Kas., Dec. 7.—In Burgett, here, examining psychologists are confronted with one of the most perplexing instances of dual personality on record.

Charged by police with a Jekyll-Hyde existence, the youth, according to authorities, has confessed a hidden criminal career, prompted by spasmodic impulses over which he says he had no control.

From model Sunday school attendant to bold bank robber, police say, was but a modest transformation for young Burgett.

Held in a sanitarium for further investigation under a pending prison sentence, Burgett tells of the fight he waged against his evil self to depart from the primrose path and lead a life in keeping with what people who respected him thought he was.

Good folks of the community, who knew him only as a plow youth, at first discredited the tales of daylight banditry alleged by police.

And one scientist, who has made several tests, pronounces Burgett "the victim of two minds with an inability to control either of them."

Given time, though, this investigator believes that Burgett's better self, which forced him to regular church services, can drive out the criminal ego, which rose to supremacy in the battle for domination of his nature.

"I wanted to go straight," the boy says. "But self-complacency and the impulse for crime were too strong."

Meanwhile he is being held in jail. And unless physicians believe that a thorough reformation is possible, he must go to prison for five years.

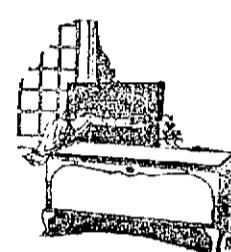

As a bandit, police charge Burgett: Entered Quay State bank, Kansas City, Kas., drove employees into vault and took $410. In a daylight holdup relieved First State bank, Quay, Okla., of $3000. Held town marshal of Quay and deputies at bay. Robbed Grand theatre, Moberly, Mo., and Newman theatre, Kansas City, over $4000 in daring holdups.

Here's a Timely Warning For the Glad-Hand Boys

DR. S. J. CRUMBINE

By N. D. A. Service
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 7. If you must shake hands—

Be careful to wash them before eating.

This is the advice of Dr. S. J. Crumbine, former secretary of the Kansas state board of health and now head of a national campaign by the American Child Health Association to prevent disease by handshaking.

The campaign is not to be directed against handshaking itself. That would be too much to expect from the American public—just yet. But doctors say they can and will educate the public to the point where persons will wash their hands after the customary American greeting—at least before meals.

"When you shake hands with another person," says Dr. Crumbine, who won fame through his campaign against the public drinking cups, roller towels and "swat the fly" propaganda, "his hands may be covered with pneumococcus or krebssieffer bacillus. You may take these germs into your system when you handle food later in the day. Then you may have pneumonia or diphtheria."

"We have no idea that handshaking can be abolished now. However, some day we may get the public aroused to the point where Americans will adopt the Chinese system and shake their own hands instead of the other fellow's."

Some day, Dr. Crumbine predicts, presidents and other men prominent in public life will be relieved of standing and shaking hands for hours with admirers. Then, he says, presidents may live longer.

And the next step after reforming the handshake, Dr. Crumbine says, may be the abolition of door knobs, favorite lurking place of disease germs.

"The door knobs," he declares, "may become, as we grow more intelligent in matters of health, as extinct as the dodo bird."

Pile Sufferers

Can You Answer These Questions?

Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief? Why cutting and operations fail? Do you know the cause of piles is internal?

That there is a stagnation of blood in the lower bowel?

Do you know that there is a harmless remedy discovered by Dr. Leonhard and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by Green's drug store and drugists generally, that is guaranteed? HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for safety and lasting relief to thousands of pile sufferers. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you.—Adv.

WATCH YOUR FOOD SUPPLIES

BY W. E. TELLING

Executive Committeeman, National Safety Council

Good food, well cooked, aids life. Poisonous food shatters and destroys life, sometimes slowly over a period of years, and sometimes in the space of two hours.

Is your food storage and supply clean?

Clean kitchen and ice box, clean dishes for serving and cooking, clean crockery or porcelain dishes for storage, clean hands and clean habits. In storing known poisons in safe places well removed from contact with foods will give protection from food poisons.

Canned foods that explode air when opened are dangerous.

Save all the food you can by storing

It is cool, safe places but never eat any doubtful food.

A dish of left-over food should represent a few cents to be saved but should also represent cheap insurance against harm when there is any doubt of its goodness.

Food producers, canneries, dairies and other sources of food distribution try their utmost to deliver foodstuffs into your home in a sanitary, healthful, appetizing condition. Can you afford to be one less bit careful about the vitamins eaten by yourself and your family? See that after your kitchen receives the eatables, they are safeguarded as much as they are before they come in.

Happily, food poisoning cases are rare. But when they do occur, remember, they usually bring suffering and death upon every member of the family.

PENSION COMMISSION COMING TO LOWELL

The commission appointed by Governor Channing Cox to investigate the subject of old age and other pensions, will hold a public hearing in the council chamber at Lowell city hall on Thursday evening, Dec. 13, at 7:30 o'clock. The principal subject to be discussed at this hearing is that of old age pensions, particularly for persons in private life.

Members of the commission are Frank H. Hardison of Wellesley, chairman; Mrs. William G. Dwight of Holyoke, Charles J. McDonough of Boston, Royal Robbins of Brookline and Prof. A. A. Young of Cambridge. The commission is very anxious to sound out public opinion on this important subject and to secure as much information as possible to enable it to make a complete report.

This commission was established by the provisions of Chapter 43 of the Revenues of 1923 for the purpose of considering the entire problem of pensions, retirement allowances and payments in the nature of pensions, whether to officers or employees retired or retiring from the public service or to persons in private life who, by reason of injury or otherwise, are no longer able to support themselves in gainful occupations.

The commission provides that in connection with the study of old age pensions, the commission shall ascertain the number of persons who would be entitled to the benefits of such a system of pensions, the probable initial expense incident to its establishment, the expense throughout a period of 25 years thereafter and the effect which such establishment might have on the amount of funds expended in public and private charity.

The commission is directed to prepare surveys showing to what extent the Commonwealth and its several subdivisions have already expended public funds during the past 25 years, by way of aid to mothers with dependent children, juvenile aid and poor relief and to estimate the probable increase in such expenditures under existing law during the next 25 years.

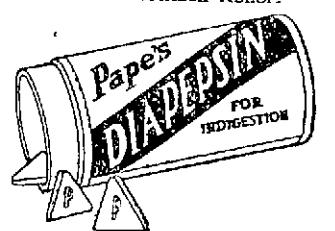

The commission is also directed to investigate the workings of the present retirement and pension plans for public employees.

The commission is directed to study and compare the pension and retirement system of other states and other countries in respect to public and private systems.

INTERNATIONAL LOAN

Futile to Discuss it Until Reparations Question is Settled, Says Warburg

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The futility of discussing the international loan and stabilization schemes until the reparations question has been settled in a practical way, was emphasized by Paul Warburg yesterday in an address at the fifth annual meeting of the American Acceptance Council.

Mr. Warburg, who is president of the council, expressed satisfaction with progress made during the past year in obtaining general recognition and adoption of sound principles and practices in the art of making and distributing American bankers and trade acceptances.

However, he pointed out, since the bulk of bankers' acceptances are based upon foreign trade, it is the volume of international commerce that determines the growth of American acceptance banking. It is natural, therefore, he asserted, to look closely into the European political situation.

"It is distressing," he said, "to realize that modern democracies are so deficient in power of imagination that it is utterly hopeless by an appeal to their intelligence to make them visualize the logical, inescapable consequences of their course."

"Evidently the cruel cup of waste and horrors must be drained to the bottom before those blinded by fear and fury, or chewing their cud in fat apathy, can be aroused to realize and accept a bitter truth based on hard facts. Suffering and pain in their own bodies alone will succeed, it seems, where the appeal to sanity failed."

"Meanwhile, he added, "the disorganization of foreign exchanges runs its fatal course, and the flow of gold to our shores continues with grim consistency."

These circumstances, Mr. Warburg admitted, have greatly helped American bankers to popularize the use of dollar bankers' acceptances in all parts of the world. "There can be little doubt, he said, but that the dollar acceptance will retain its place permanently at the side of the sterling bill."

Declaring he was not unmindful that the words "tax exemption" are anathema for most people, Mr. Warburg suggested that the income from eligible bankers' acceptances be exempted from the normal tax only for acceptances in the hands of foreign holders and of banks, savings banks, insurance companies and investment corporations in the United States.

Such action, he said, would not mean the kind of exemption that is objectionable because it renders tax immune large individual incomes. Instead, he said, it would mean the substitution of bankers' acceptances for single name promissory notes and would bring about an enlarged supply of liquid paper which is an essential item forward in the direction of perfecting the nation's banking system.

You'll say the same as soon as you have had your first helping of Arlington Sausage.

The richness of the Arlington flavor is due to the careful selection of meat and spices. Made fresh daily of sweet, tender pork cut from choice corn-fed porkers, chopped—not ground, and blended with savory spices. A sausage with a flavor and wholesomeness that is satisfying.

Fresh Arlington Sausage may be secured in sanitary one pound cartons from the better stores.

FACES TRIED

Soon the country again will see the spectacle of a governor of one of its states being arraigned for trial in a criminal court. This time, it is Indiana's chief executive, Warren G. McCrary, who's "in Dutch." Eight separate indictments charging him with embezzlement; forgery, larceny; issuing a fraudulent check and false pretenses have been returned against him by the Marion county grand jury at Indianapolis.

In eastern Prussia Sunday baptisms are believed to offset the unlucky amulets of children who are born on Friday.

FORMER LOWELL BOY IN THE MOVIES

A story of considerable interest to Lowell people is entwined in the motion picture, "The White Rose," now showing at The Strand. The story concerns a boy, Neil Hamilton, co-starred in the picture born in Lynn with Mae Marsh for he spent his boyhood days in this city, living with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hamilton in Mammoth road. Just before entering high school he moved with his folks to West Haven, Conn., but many persons in Lowell remember him and have followed his rapid rise to fame with interest. He may well be in Griffith's latest masterpiece, "The American," in which he will be cast as Nathan Hale.

His prominence in the motion picture world has been recent, for it was only about a year ago that Griffith picked him out as a remarkable type for screening and gave him the leading male role in "The White Rose." At the present time Mr. Hamilton is working in Griffith's latest masterpiece, "The American," in which he will be cast as Nathan Hale.

Mr. Hamilton is married and lives in New York state, but his parents still make their home in Connecticut. Many Lowell people will well remember the young man's father, Alexander Hamilton, during his years of work at the Lamson Co. plant.

Norton Evens Score With Boyle—Ponies and Princetons Ready for Game

Roxbury Jouth Jumps Into Lead in Early Fighting, But Boyle Stages Spectacular Rally in Eighth—Big Crowd Enjoys Battle—Duffy Wins Over O'Neil

Tansey Norton of Roxbury and Phinney Boyle of Lowell, meeting for the second time in two weeks, battled through ten hectic rounds in the main and feature event of the Moody club card in Crotchet last night. Norton was awarded the decision.

The attendance taxed the capacity of the hall with spectators from other cities being numerous. A large delegation came from Roxbury. Others were on hand from Lawrence, Nashua and Worcester. All came prepared to witness a thrilling bout and none was disappointed.

Norton entered the ring weighing 143. Boyle tipped the scales at 141. In the other bout Boyle fought at 143, while Norton was two pounds heavier. Johnny Bransell of Boston, was the referee, and Messrs. McDermott and Gracken, both of Boston, were the judges.

The "all" Boston aspect of the officials did not appeal to the Boyle followers and they declared Phinney would have to knock out his man to land the award. But as soon as the bell rang, arguments and criticism of the assigning of the officials were forgotten and the roasters began to cheer and yell encouragement to their favorite. In the Roxbury delegation were several of the fair sex and they were among the most enthusiastic roasters in the hall.

Norton tore at Boyle at the top of the first song and he launched a whirlwind attack, shooting lefts and rights at Boyle from all angles and jumping right into the lead. He evidently tried to put over a haymaker and he connected with a couple of wicked smashes to head that looked for a moment as if he would attain his objective. Norton's long left penetrated Boyle's guard and found its mark. Phinney, while driven back to the ropes, returned to the centre fighting tooth and nail. It was a round of abundant action with Norton well in the lead. Norton continued his offensive endeavor as the bout progressed. Boyle apparently a little over confident because of his victory in the last bout, appeared content to let Norton do the forcing, but here he made a mistake. As the second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh rounds were tolled, Norton continued his smashing attack and while Boyle fought back and held him on fairly even terms in some of the way.

The tenth was another strenuous session, one that found both boys in there fighting furiously, employing all force and energy and jabbing, stabbing, hooking, uppercutting and whipping in punches that only well trained and well conditioned men could withstand. Norton split Boyle's lip with a vicious blow and the claret trickled down. It was the only semblance of gore during the fight. It was a thrilling finish.

Boyle's rally was spectacular and in many cases would have brought him an award, but the judges who checked the fight all the way ruled that Boyle's dash could not overcome Norton's pronounced lead. In the early fighting

But somehow or other Mallory just couldn't make the grade and all the time he was at the local school he was to be seen with a place in the ranks. Then a seat on the varsity bench when the big games were being played.

It was the same at baseball. Mallory had the idea that he was a catcher and

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS SALE IS BIG SUCCESS

The annual Christmas sale under the auspices of St. Michael's Charity Guild witnessed an auspicious opening yesterday afternoon and last night, hundreds of friends of the organization, not only in St. Michael's parish, but from other parishes in the city as well, visiting the beautifully decorated hall in the new school and expressing admiration of the attractive layout of articles on display in the several booths.

In a semi-circle arrangement, the booths are distributed about the hall. The decorations in themselves are well worth a visit to the scene, for the committee in charge spent no little time and energy in making it seem with the spirit of Christmas, good will and charity. All the proceeds collected from the sale will be used for charitable purposes, which is the object of the guild. The sale continued this afternoon from 1:30 until 5:30 and from 7 to 9:30 in the evening. The same territories in Washington. He doesn't smoke, chew, drink, dance, play poker or fish longer. He never swatted a golf ball, swing a tennis racket or paddled a canoe. His sole recreation—outside of work—is horseback riding. His daily morning canter through Rock Creek park is as fixed an event in his existence as eating or sleeping. And he just loves work! It's his only interest, outside life, wife and horse. If it's a worker—a courageous, two-fisted, conscientious worker the republicans decide they want—then Borah's their big bet.

Mexican Rebellion

While other government forces were instructed to converge at Esperanza in order to assist in attacking Sanchez, other troops were concentrated in the state of Tlaxcala under command of General Fausto Tapia. Official quarreling went on that Sanchez, himself, as one of the rising young lawyers of the state and had won Mary McCormick, the daughter of the governor, for his bride.

Being a poor man, wholly dependent on his ministerial salary, he sold his house, home and his "dear residence" in the state to a Rose hotel, where he stays on his wife's back home. His Washington residence is in an unpretentious apartment house on a quiet side street.

A popular demonstration against the hostilities in various parts of the republic is scheduled for today. It will be headed by former President Chazzaro.

Rebellion Spreads

VERA CRUZ, Dec. 7. (By the Associated Press)—Troops in the entire maritime zone have joined the insurrection movement against President Obregon and General Calles, according to reports that had been received here at an early hour this morning. The rebellion is now said to embrace the whole of the Sustex oil region.

Local troops from Mexico City, it is reported, were in contact last night with insurgent forces. The railway lines between the capital and this city have been cut.

Leaders of the movement, including Adolfo de la Huerta, General Guadalupe Sanchez, chief of military operations in this district, and Jorge Prieto Laurents, are preparing to set up a provisional government here and plan to elect one of their number as provisional president. Rafael Zubarán Campana is reported to be slated for the post. Several deputies of the national congress, most of them prominent in the Cooperativa, which is supporting the presidential candidacy of de la Huerta, are either in Vera Cruz or are on their way here.

Leaders of the revolt have offered guarantees and employment to the people and have given assurances that trade will be protected.

Many land owners, it is announced, have joined the rebels, hoping thereby to regain the properties they lost under the law compelling land owners to share their estates with their tenants. Plans for the movement, it appears, were crystallized at a meeting held late Wednesday night, at the home of Sanchez. This meeting was attended by several generals and naval chiefs, who after telegraphing President Obregon that they had resolved "to assume the defense of the institutions offended so seriously" by the federal government, ousted all federal office holders, replacing them with sympathizers. They also named General

Alfonso Cárdenas as provisional governor of Vera Cruz.

Throughout yesterday and last night came news of similar movements at Tamaulipas, Chihuahua, San Luis Potosí, Michoacan, Jalisco, Sinaloa, Sonora and Tlaxcala.

General Berlanga is said to be the only commander in the maritime zone who refused to join the movement. The chief of the garrison at Tampico has notified General Calles that he will not affiliate with the rebels, but General Panamé Martínez, commanding a column of troops, has been ordered to Tampico to inform the commander that he must either accept the conditions of the insurgents or be attacked.

HUMANE SOCIETY MAN
HAD DIFFICULT JOB

Harrison Baker of the Lowell Humane Society, received a horrible surprise yesterday when he was called to a house in Jolley avenue, to take care of a cat which had made an entrance into an old hot air furnace. On opening the door of the furnace he discovered that the animal in question was not a domestic feline, but a porcupine. The little fellow had been lying in the furnace for a period of two weeks and was as fat as butter, although the source of his food is still a mystery, and as soon as he got the first whiff of chloroform from the sponge with which the agent wished to lull him to sleep everlasting, he disappeared into a crevice in the interior of the heating plant and it was only after great difficulty that he was worked into a position where he could be shot without seriously embarrassing Mr. Baker.

FINED $25 FOR SMASHING PRESIDENT TO NAME R. R. NEW LIGHT POLE

Clarence C. Marston, an employee of the state infirmary in Tewksbury, was fined $25 in district court last evening for going away without making hims self known after inuring property.

Marston was the driver of an automobile which last night crashed into and demolished one of the new poles in the white way system on the Lowell end of the Lowell Avenue bridge yesterday. The system was recently put into operation the previous night.

Effected by the work of a 12-man jury, he failed to recover his freedom.

The name of Governor Edwin P. Morrow of Kentucky will be submitted as a successor to H. M. Wilson as a member of the public group of the board. E. F. Thrall, who was given a recess appointment by President Harding as a member of the first group, will be renominated, and Horace Barker, who was represented by President Harding last spring as a member of the management group, will be presented to the senate for confirmation. The three nominations will fill all existing or imminent vacancies on the board.

To Succeed Judge Hay

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Representatives from North Dakota are to be appointed by President Coolidge as successors to Judge Eugene H. Hay in his seat as a member of the United States board of appraisers at New York City. The appointment will be made in conjunction with a decision reached by the Senate Select Committee on Appraisers, which jumped 6, 31 and 3, 34 to President Harding's original list of North Dakota successors of the list in the late fall.

Questioned at the Colgate station, he said: "I am satisfied that his health will permit him to serve, but I am not sure he will be able to do so. The other health of an incoming member of the board was badly damaged, but started on his own way to better the collision."

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me, and after using five cakes of Cuticura Soap and five boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Hilda Gilbert, Wilton, Maine, Feb. 12, 1923.

AUDITORIUM FILLED
COL. FORBES SAID TO BE SERIOUSLY ILLCapacity Audience Warmly
Greets John McCormack,
Most Popular of Tenors

John McCormack, most popular of all tenors, came to the Memorial Auditorium last evening and gave a song recital that could not fail to add to the prestige he already enjoys in Lowell. A capacity audience was present to greet him and greet him they did with an expression of admiration that could not be mistaken in the depth of its sincerity. He sang before friends and sang his way right into their hearts. There is no one just like him, and in a recital of the songs we all love to hear he stands supreme.

Mr. McCormack was most ably assisted by Luigi Kennedy, cellist, and Edwin Schmidler, pianist, in the presentation of his program.

A glance at the program showed wherein Mr. McCormack planned to win his audience, for it was carefully designed to bring in a use several of the songs people like to hear him sing, albeit many of them are favorites, such as "Mavis," "Mother Machree," and "Annie Laurie." But for all the appeal these songs carry, and no one will gainsay they do not touch at the very heartstrings of an audience, for sheer beauty of tone and artistic interpretation nothing he did last night matched his opening number, the aria, "My Heart With Tender Ply, Swells" from Handel's "Hercules." It was most beautifully sung and certainly placed the audience in the precise mood for the many good things which followed.

The McCormack voice today is the McCormack voice of yesterday to all appearances. It still carries the atmosphere of earnest pleading and deep appeal and as a singer of love songs he still remains unapproachable. The thrill of power is there, too, and he seems capable of handling this marvelous voice organ with all the facility and flexibility that have marked it in the past. His head tones still present faintly soft whispers of love, true to pitch and lovely in effect. The king of song he is called and rightly so, for none has yet come to seriously question his right of rule.

In his second group of songs, which included two German compositions by Hugo Wolf and a prayer to God to guide the feet of little children by S. Rachmaninoff, Mr. McCormack reached the pinnacle of success in "Eleanor." "He She Not Passing Fair?" It was one of the beauties of the program.

After intermission a group of Irish folk songs called for tremendous waves of applause, and it was after this group that the singer added "Mavis" and "Mother Machree." He brought his program to a close with a group of four songs, featuring a composition by his pianist, Mr. Schmidler, and Stanley Blackford's stately arrangement of "Thomas Becket."

At intervals during the program Mr. Kennedy gave solo selections of real merit and also was forced to respond to a demand for encores. Throughout the accompaniments of Mr. Schmidler were most helpful.

A most considerate thing was done by Mr. McCormack which he came out for his second group of songs and invited the audience sitting upon the stage to go down to the floor and take the few remaining chairs there. "You will be able to hear so much better," he said.

The local management was in the hands of John J. Donovan of Lawrence, who was most satisfied with the success achieved.

DECREE NISI FOR
MRS. BERNATAVICH

"I asked him for a dime for a cake of soap and he told me to go out and earn it," said Mrs. Madeline Bernatavich to Judge Legant in probate court this morning in explaining why she thought she should have a divorce on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment.

"Was that all that ever came between you?" asked Attorney Frank Goldin, her counsel.

"No, about midnight that night when I was in bed with my daughter, he broke down the door of my room and came in with a carbine rifle as long as my arm. He said he was going to cut me up into small pieces; that there were no witnesses and I had to submit to it."

"What did you do, scream?"

"No, I got up out of bed and pointed out the window with my nightshirt on."

"Did he follow you out of the house?"

"No, I went to a neighbor's house on Davison street and they let me in for the night. The next morning after he went out to work I went home and got my clothes."

Little Nellie Bernatavich agreed with her mother that as husband or father Rudol Bernatavich is far from a man. She said it was quite the usual thing for the man of the house to go through his daily dozen with a piece of kindling wood, using his wife for a target while he wielded a few mean strokes.

There are three Bernatavich children.

D. E. Donahue, counsel for the husband, did not contest the divorce request and a decree nisi was granted.

Bernatavich, under agreement of counsel regarding disposition of property, to pay $12 weekly for the mother, is to support the children. The wife is to move from the Wall street flats owned as a member of the On to London by her husband and both are to keep the peace.

Bernatavich was under a previous order by District Court Judge Enright to pay $9 weekly to the wife pending the disposition of the case in urban court.

parties a total of 313 out of the complete house membership of 615.

Prime Minister Baldwin was re-elected to parliament. His constituency, the Bawley district of Worcestershire, gave him a majority of 6369 over Sardius Hancock, Liberal, this being an increase of 626 over last year's majority.

James MacDonald, labor party leader, retained his seat for Aberavon, Glamorgan, Wales, with a plurality of 3412. He received 15,432 votes as against 13,027 for S. H. Byass, conservative.

Former Prime Minister Lloyd George was re-elected from the Carnarvon district of Wales over Austin Jones, conservative. Mrs. Margaret Whittingham, Liberal, was re-elected from the Louth division of Lincolnshire.

The Duchess of Athol, conservative, was returned for the Kincardine and western division of Perth and Kinross over L. A. Moltan, Liberal.

Another woman elected makes the sixth woman member of parliament. She is Lady Terrington, Liberal, who was successful in her contest for the seat for the Wycombe division of Buckinghamshire.

The returns show six other women selected by the electors, two in Birmingham and one in Surrey, Glamorgan in Wales, Cambridge and West Dorset.

It was rumored today that Winston Churchill, defeated in yesterday's polling in West Leicester, would be asked to contest the seat for West Derbyshire, whose member has just died, against the Marquis of Hartington.

Against Government

ated Press)—The election returns announced up to an early hour this morning represent the verdict of the greater part of London and its suburbs, a majority of the largest English cities, and a half dozen important Welsh and Scotch towns.

The answer given by these urban centers to Prime Minister Baldwin's appeal is certainly disconcerting for him and for the conservative party. The expectation that the women would vote at this election in larger numbers than at the two previous ones for which they were eligible, was fulfilled and reports from everywhere show that they manifested great earnestness. It is surmised that the arguments of the opponents of protection, namely, that the adoption of such a policy will result in increasing prices, considerably influenced them. Nevertheless, the fashionable women of London's West Side also voted diligently and their ballots were not likely cast against the conservatives.

Of the nine women candidates in whose constituencies returns have been completed, only Lady Astor and Miss Susan Lawrence have been successful.

Labor's first woman's M.P., Miss Lawrence, who defeated the conservative member for East Ham, will be a distinct acquisition to the party in the house.
